ACIDENE PH

Nutritional Supplements for Application via Drinking Water

ACIDENE PH is wide blend mixture of different acids, combined to support the digestive system of the animals. The lowering of the pH suppresses harmful bacteria, improves the feed conversion and increases the daily live weight gain

Two principle modes of action:

- 1) Reduction of pH - by the dissociated of the acid
- 2) Antimicrobial effect - by the undissociated acid

In this state the acid molecule can pass through the cell-wall of bacteria (= penetrate the cell) and dissociates inside the cell

Direct antibacterial effect or organic acids is possible only in the first segments of the gastro-intestinal tract Reduced stomach-pH supports:

- increase of gastric enzyme secretion
- Better degradation of nutrients in the stomach
- better nutrient digestion in the small intestine
- less undigested nutrients available for the pathogenic microflora

⇒ In consequence = less digestive disorders and enhanced growth
